A modern classic

Created by star designer Philippe Starck, the Starck 1 bathroom range is a modern classic. From the elegant washbasin to the washbowl with barrel-shaped vanity unit made from solid wood, all items reflect Starck's skill at creating minimalist bathroom designs.

Starck furniture. Warm elegance for the bathroom. The new Starck bathroom furniture shows that design-led elegance and warm comfort are not mutually exclusive. The new vanity units with conveniently large drawers can be combined with all three new Starck-1 console basins, as well as with other basins.

A real Starck, but less costly to produce – that was the idea behind Starck 2 and the new products also offer high-quality design in the medium price category. And what a design! The new console basin is incredibly stylish, extremely modern and features the characteristic round forms of the range.

Starck 2 – in wall-mounted and floor-standing versions. With perfect lines, smooth sides and no fastenings, the design has seamless perfection. The console basin, toilet and bidet are small works of art that show just how attractive the complete Starck 2 collection is. Also available in combination with SensoWash.

Wellness in top form: There are lots of steam showers on the market, but only one St.Trop, designed by Philippe Starck. Reduced to the essentials, it is presented as a simple rectangle. The door forms a frame, as with a painting. The inside thus becomes the canvas depicting all kinds of action. The 1000x1000 mm large steam shower is available as back-to-wall and as corner version (left or right).

Philippe Starck designed a bathtub that not only offers more design but also a greater amount of room and comfort. Despite standard outer dimensions, thanks to the optimum use of space and the distinct back section, it sports a spacious interior to accommodate taller people as well. Whether the straightforward version or the version with a whirl system made up of individual components that can be combined at will, the Starck bathtubs ensure that the bather emerges feeling like a new person.
